IN CUMBERLAND.

THE ARMY arrived in Cumberland, Md., on Sunday, April 15th, 1894, at one o'clock p. m., by way of the National Pike, and camped in the Base Ball Park until Tuesday, April 17th, at nine o'clock in the morning, when they took Canal Boats to Williamsport, Md.

A more orderly set of men never came to our city, and while tired and dusty were all in perfectly good humor, though having passed an intensely cold and disagreeable week before.
